

John O'Leary has been a management consultant for nearly four decades. John specializes in organizational change consulting, management training, executive coaching, and team formulation. John helps professionals produce results with the immediacy demanded by today's fast-changing business world.

Previously, John worked for the Tom Peters Company as a senior consultant, specializing in organizational change, management training, and organizational consulting. Before this, he was Director of Training at Peter Senge's Innovation Associates.

Recent clients include: Anthem, Anglo-American, Atrium Innovations, Cisco Systems, Commerce Bank, Deloitte & Touche, Johnson & Johnson, Lockheed Martin, Nestlé Health Science, Schindler, Teck Resources, the US Army, and Weyerhaeuser.

John is an alumnus of Yale University.